1. The attached study, "Intelligence Planning Guidance for the 1970s"  prepared under the direction of the Deputy to the DCI for National Intelligence Programs Evaluation (NIPE), has been approved by the Director of Central Intelligence and is being distributed to USIB participants as an expression of the DCI views in his community and coordinating role. This final version reflects comments received from all major agencies and offices of the U.S. intelligence community following dissemination of the preliminary draft (see references).

2. This analysis of the national and international environment and of the implications which these hold for U.S. intelligence operations and the management of intelligence resources during the coming decade is intended for use as a tool to assist planning and resource allocation both within the individual agencies and in the community as a whole.

3. The study is not directive in nature and the proposed follow-on actions listed on pages iii-v will need to be authenticated by appropriate directives or requests for action addressed by the Director of Central Intelligence to the responsible organization or agency. It is recognized that action on some of these projects should be deferred since the described problem areas would be affected by implementation of recommendations contained in the recent "Report to the President and the Secretary of Defense on the Department of Defense" by the Blue Ribbon Defense Panel. USIB participants are invited to submit additional proposals for follow-on studies which their review of the planning guidance paper indicates would be worthwhile.

4. The original study attached hereto was written on an all-source basis since this was considered essential for a comprehensive examination of the problem areas. Copies of a sanitized version for use on a TOP SECRET non-codeword basis also are attached.
